

Rajnath assuring Service Chiefs J&K on Article 35A

SHEIKH QAYOOM

Srinagar/Jammu: Union Home Minister Rajnath Singh on Monday sought to address the concerns over the legal challenge to the Constitution's Article 35A by stating that the Narendra Modi government would do nothing that would go against the aspirations of Kashmiri people while also asserting that he was ready to come here and meet anyone to bring peace to the state.

Concluding his two-day visit to the Kashmir Valley on Monday, he also said that the situation here was improving and he could see "the green buds of peace on the trees".

Addressing the media before leaving on two-day visit to Jammu, he said the controversy around article 35A was a non-issue that was being unfortunately raked up.

"The centre will do nothing that would go against the wishes and aspirations of the Kashmiri people regarding article 35A.

"I feel there is no reason for doubt and confusion on this issue. The centre has not gone to the court in this regard and I want to assure that whatever our government will do, it will not go against the wishes and aspirations of the people," he said.

Asked about the divergent positions taken by the RSS and even the BJP leaders and ministers who were demanding the abrogation of the article that gives special privileges to the permanent residents of J&K, an assertive Rajnath Singh said: "I am a BJP leader and the Home Minister of the country. My statement on this issue should be taken as final."

Chief Minister Mehbooba Mufti and her predecessor Omar Abdullah both welcomed the assurance, but the latter also sought that the central government should now translate the assurance on ground by filing a counter affidavit in the Supreme Court.

Rajnath Singh, meanwhile asked about starting a political initiative in the state, said: "I have never counted the number of times I came here. I have always come with an open mind to talk."

Asked about the situation in the state, he said the government was acting according to the law.

The defence minister said, "The question asked to me had no reference to the CAG. My reply was procurement is a continuing process, gaps will be filled. In none of my answers did I mention CAG. Putting 2 & 2 together, a quote has been created, which was strictly not mine."

Earlier on Sunday, a PTI report stated that Sitharaman had dismissed as factually wrong a CAG's report which had stated that the defence forces had ammunition that could last for 20 days in the event of a war, and asserted there was no dearth of weapons with the defence forces. She was quoted by PTI as saying, "Facts were wrong and it was unnecessary to debate on the issue, she told reporters.
